Advertising/Integrated Marketing Communications

Required Courses

Why Choose an Advertising/Integrated Marketing Communications Minor

If you choose to enroll in this minor, you will be one of a very few select students to receive a minor in Advertising/Integrated Marketing Communications from a College of Business. The emphasis of your minor will not be in the creation of copy or illustration, but in developing integrated marketing communications campaigns that effectively convey an organization's message through the strategic combination of advertising, direct marketing, sales promotion and public relations techniques. As a graduate with this minor, you will be highly sought by companies and/or ad agencies looking for people with a solid grounding in business that are capable of managing client relationships and building marketing success. You will learn such concepts as:

- Understanding markets and media
- Learning how corporations communicate effectively
- Serving as a bridge builder between your organization and the customers who desire to use your organization's products and services.

You will find yourself in a very competitive, challenging and rewarding career. Your career ladder will often lead to high-paying senior management, executive and/or leadership positions.

The minor is based on the idea that there is no substitute for experience. As a student, you become directly involved in the integrated marketing communications and advertising process. You write copy, create layouts, develop media plans and produce integrated marketing communications strategies. In addition, you will choose two specialized classes that will help to focus your career preparation.

Career Opportunities

Integrated marketing communications is a field that offers an astonishing number and variety of specialized career opportunities. It encompasses all the facets of integrated marketing communications, including general advertising, sales promotion, direct marketing, publicity, trade shows and more. You will find yourself in a very competitive, challenging and rewarding career in this field in positions such as account executives, copywriters, creative directors, managers, media planners and buyers, sales people and researchers. Your career ladder will often lead to high-paying senior management, executive and/or leadership positions.
